Kranz To Answer On Drunk Driving

The hearing of Philip Kranz, who is charged with driving a car while intoxicated, May 9, took place this afternoon before Judge W. L. Mobley of the Justice Court in this city. Kranz was represented by Attorney Vernon Stoll of Grass Valley. District Attorney W. E. Wright and his deputy, Robert Tharp, appeared for the people.

At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Mobley held Kranz to answer before the Superior Court on a charge of drunken driving. His bail was fixed at $1,000 cash.

Witnesses called included the two young boys, James and Dick Landie, who were hit by Kranz, car near a service station in Hills Flat and thrown into the ditch alongside the highway. James testified that after being hit himself, and picking himself out of the ditch, he found his younger brother Dick, practically unconscious on the edge of the little bridge there. Dick testified he had been struck in the back above the right hip.

Dr. Carl P. Jones testified that he had examined Kranz, at the request of the Traffic officers William Fouyer and Capt. Jos. Blake, and found him much intoxicated.

George Dickenson, the first witness called, has a service station in Hills Flat. He stated that the accident occurred almost directly in front of his station, that he heard the car strike the boys and heard one of them cry out. He placed the time as around 8 o'clock in the evening of May 9. On seeing Kranz' car move on without stopping after the accident, Dickenson testified that he jumped into his car and followed the car to Nevada City, where he saw Kranz and his two companions, Jesse M. Woods of Sacramento, and Albert Willet, enter the house of Mrs. Barbara Sullivan on Spring St., He then summoned Traffic Officer William Fouyer and they made an examination of the car, finding a deep dent in the right front fender and a smaller one in the thin nickel tire cover in the right fender well.

Both Fouyer and Blake testified to finding the dents in the fender and tire cover. Fouyer called at the house of Mrs. Sullivan and asked to see the driver of the car. Krenz appeared and stated he was the driver. He was asked for the keys to the car and produced them from his pocket. The officers took Kranz to Dr. Carl P. Jones to be examined and later lodged him in the county jail on a drunken driving charge.

Other witnesses called were Woods, Willets, Mrs. Sullivan, who carroboiated the testimony of the others.

NATIVE SONS SOUVENIRS IN WINDOW DISPLAY

Mr. J. F. Colley has quite an interesting display of Native Sons souvenir book of the 22nd session, pictures, a gold pan and nuggets at this time in his windows.

Hydraulic Parlor, named from a method of gold mining at the time, is No. 56, that being one of the earlier chapters.

Two views of the old Manzanita diggings north east of Nevada City taken in 1887 are of particular interest. At this time that immense hydraulic wash, which caved at about that time, is grown over with good sized pine and cedar trees, and some brush until it would not look familiar to the old-time observer.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS HONORED BY LEGION

Hague-Thomas Hegarty Post of the American Legion presented each of the seven Gold Star Mothers of Nevada City and Grass Valley with beautiful boquets of red and white carnations on Mothers Day or yesterday, in loving memory of the sons who so bravely gave their lives in the big World War. The Legion boys, to some extent can forget the suffering and strain of those terrible days, but they realize the Gold Star Mothers, who gave up their sons can never forget.

Mothers in the two cities receiving these beautiful flowers are: Mrs. R. Hegarty, Mrs. Annie Campbell, Mrs. Alfred Haddy and Mrs. Selina Kriegel of Nevada City and Mrs. Jessie Fleming, Mrs. George Bupers, and Mrs. George Whiting.

SPRING HILL IS PROSPECTING ON 500 FOOT LEVEL

Prospecting in the Spring Hill mine is going forward satisfactorily. At the bottom of the 500-foot shaft, drifts have been extended along the vein structure, for a distance of 400 feet either way. Thus far values encountered have been small.

H. R. Plate, engineer and one of the owners of the mine, states that drifting will be continued during May, but about the first of June, if values do not improve, he will sink the shaft 200 or 300 feet deeper and explore the vein again from the bottom of the shaft on the 700 or 800-foot level, as the case may be.

George Starr, a friend of Mr. Plate, is consulting engineer for the mine. Both Mr. Starr and Mr. Plate feel hopeful of the finding of an ore chute, if not on the 500, at further depth.

Mr. Plate states that geologists regard Spring Hill as one of the major veins of the district, unusually wide and well defined. In many respects it closely resembles in character of quartz and vein formation the Idaho-Maryland, which obtained its first good values at a considerable depth.

The shaft is one of the older ones in the district. It was first sunk in 1866. In 1870 the property passed into the hands of the pioneer Lakenan family, who sunk the shaft deeper and did further prospecting without finding profitable ore. Mr. Plate is now associated with Mr. C. B. Lakenan in further exploration of the mine and hopes to uncover an ore chute at depth.

FIFTY MEN BUILD C. C. C. CAMP AT N. BLOOMFIELD

Fifty men are today working on the first barrack camp for the Civilians Conservation Corps to be erected in the Tahoe National Forest area. The camp is located at Bloomfield. It will be built to house 200 men. The first contingent of 25 men from the training camp in San Francisco, arrived Saturday. They were joined by 25 men experienced in carpentry and forestry work recruited in this district, who will aid in carrying forward the camp construction work. This announcement was made yesterday by Forest Supervisor R. L. P. Bigelow. He believes it will require about seven days to have the camp in readiness for the rest of the men who are expected to arrive in groups at frequent intervals.

Captain Biehl of the United States Army is in charge of the transfer and settlement of the men in their camp and Leon G. Johnson is Forest Service camp superintendent.

Henry Paine, mining man near Lake City, visited in Nevada City Saturday.

PHONE NUGGET FOR ELECTION RESULTS

The Nevada City Nugget, which goes to press at 4 o'clock p. m. is unable to announce the results of the election, now in progress, on the question of transferring the swimming pool fund of $10,000 to the water fund.

The telephone number of the Nugget is 36. All those desiring to know the result of the election should call that number this evening, and as soon as the count is completed, which should be by 6:30 o'clock.

At press time the total number voted at the polls in the city hall was 318. This did not show the interest in the election that had generally been expected, for there are between 800 and 900 voters registered in Nevada City.

TO THE VOTERS OF NEVADA CITY

By A. SEAMAN

We are voting on the proposition of transferring the swimming pool funds to the water fund so as to enable us to renew the mains to the Canada Hill and Sugar Loaf reservoirs, and to make the needed improvements to our water service.

You have already been informed of what these repairs and improvements are.

As a city trustee I did not want to ask the citizens for the money as we had already asked once and had been refused. But the firemen, recognizing the danger and their inability to protect the city from fire during the protracted cold spell and snow and shortage of water of the last winter, asked us to call this election and we have done so.

In addition to our water system there are other things that require attention and that soon must be financed out of our general fund. Our sewer system is getting old and is in need of replacements and repairs. The 11-inch main in Deer Creek, back of the National Hotel, is badly rotted and needs to be replaced. Near Gold Run bridge a long section of 6-inch main is in need of replacement, as is also the sewer near the fill on Washington street. No real survey has bee made of these, but I know of them.

Our City Hall is very shabby and we have postponed repairs until we are better able to make them.

Our streets are a constant source of care, to keep the pavements we have, in good condition, and to try and add a little more to them as we can. We have not had good luck with our streets, but I am confident that we will succed yet.

I am not opposed to a swimming pool. In fact I was one of a committee of three from the city trustees that selected a site. The price was alright, the title was good, but why the deal fell through I do not know. If we have a pool I want ground enough for playgrounds, ball and tennis, for picnicking, as well as for a pool, so that those who do not care to swim, can use and it will be a year around affair, instead of just through the summer vacation. And most important of all it should be on a running stream, so as to insure pure, fresh, clean water, changed daily.

We trustees are not holding back on the swimming pool to oppose the wishes of the people, but because conditions in our estimation do not justify the work at this time.

If a suitable site is found there will not be any trouble to get a pool.

If the voters see their way clear to vote us this money we can put our water system in good condition and we need not worry about our revenue producer, but can give our attention to other matters.

We trustees are doing the best we can for the city's interest. We make mistakes, and I, for myself, am trying to make good and to overcome them.

If you will help us, we will be grateful. If not we must carry on as best we can.

(Signed)
A. SEAMAN.

THE NATIVE SONS

The Native Sons, meeting for their annual Grand Parlor in Grass Valley today, are welcome guests on the Mother Lode and in this County of premier gold production. Probably three fourths of the four hundred or more delegates, are descendants of or related to the Argonauts who founded here the cities of Nevada City and Grass Valley. Their convention is in the nature, then, of a home coming, a visiting the hearths and the homes where so many of their grand parents wrested the gold from these hills.

For all those who visit these two cities the traditional hand of hospitality, the warm, kind welcome of the pioneers, is extended, but especially cordial is the greetings to these Sons of California whose coming is more of a return than a visit.

Tablets here and there along the highway of the Mother Lode, bear witness to one of the splendid activities of Native Sons and Daughters. The people of the state, millions of them coming originally from other states, are learning its splendid history, and these commemorative tablets, beautifully molded and cast in bronz, are in the nature of shrines, before which motorists often halt to read the legend and pay tribute to the memory of the rugged and virile founders of California.

Since the Native Sons and Daughters began their endeavors to make the people of this state history conscious, proud of its great traditions, of its early poets and novelists, its explorers and its jurists, in short, proud of all those leaders in thought or action, who left their stamp indelibly upon the social fabric, thousands not born in the Golden State, have been inspired to hand on the torch. Our State University through the practical assistance of funds for more than twenty years has offered instruction in California history. A great library of early California documentary history, some of it purchased from Spain and Mexico, has been gathered at the State University and researchers in California history have been able to throw new light on many matters of importance in world history through the study of these documents.

We should be very remiss if we failed to mention here another splendid activity of the Native Sons and Daughters. That is their home finding bureau for children. The elder California Sons and Daughters have evinced a great tenderness for all those tiny, new sons and daughters that every year are born unwelcomed or, through parental misfortune, are cast adrift. These abandoned waifs, through the long years have gladdened many a childless home in California. For them the Native Sons and Daughters have found warm and hungry hearts to take them in, rear them and educate them to fine citizenship.

In these two endeavors the Native Sons and Daughters are building up in California imponderable and intangible human values for all time. Though they cannot be weighed and cannot be sensed in the ordinary way, they constitute, nevertheless, an empire of spiritual riches in a world too much given to material things.

Nevada County welcomes home these children of the Argonauts.

WEEKLY COMMENT

CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

I have been inviting ideas to come to the surface for the last hour and the most rational ones even seem to elude capture. Perhaps one or two will light pretty soon and if so I will set them down au naturel.

There are many ways to cook eggs yes many, many, and where the family consists of, say three adults and perhaps two or three children, who eat them, there is sure to be request for at least three differently cooked style of egg or eggs as the case might be. This has so far been an insurmountable cookery problem. You figure it out. I have long given it up.

Organ music is to my senses (if properly played) the most beautiful of the instrumentals. The first records of the organ shows that it was used for devotional music. In the fourth century there was a quickening of interest in organ music, but not until the eigth century did real progress begin. One of the first large organs of which there is an historic record required seventy men as blowers. That would be a grand job for some of our present day politicians.

Herriot the Frenchman is no doubt an Irishman in French clothes or else he has recently kissed the Blarney stone. This outburst is fostered by having read his letter to us after he got back to his native land. How any one can expect hardheaded American business men to believe in his sincerety when they read his message, is beyond me.

If when the votes are counted this evening it is again found that the voters want that swimming pool built "now." I am of the opinion that the ground breaking exercises, will be the next program to be brought up for consideration. I overheard a conversation one day last week and one remark which lodged in my tympanum was: "Well, I feel this way about it; that if the people again say build that swimming pool and it is not immediately done, I will be mighty glad to circulate for signatures a petition demanding action at once!" Maybe more people feel the same way.

And now with the permission of the N. S. G. W. I drink a 3.2 toast to their organization, may it live long and prosper.

Taxes in Nevada County Paid Despite Moratorium

Even though Nevada county is under the state tax moratorium, a report from Tax Collector Hammill's office shows that 81 per cent of the taxes have been paid, up to May 1st.

Since May 1st, other taxes have been paid and more are expected to further reduce the delinquency list.

Credit for the Nevada county record goes to the large operating mines of the county. Only one of the large mines took a advantage of the moratorium.

ENGLEBRIGHT IN FIGHT AGAINST SIX HOUR LAW

In a statement given to the press in Washington D. C., Harry Englebright, Congressman from this district, and resident of Nevada City, declares that: "Application of the six-hour day and five-day week as applied to gold mines will reduce tonnage and increase costs to such an extent that it will practically close down every gold producing mine in the state.

"The principal gold production of the State of California is obtained from the deep lode mines of the Grass Valley-Nevada City district and from the Mother Lode district. These mines are now operated on an eight-hour shift basis. These mines have been operated for many years and the shafts have been extended, in many instances, to more than a mile in depth. The lateral underground works extending from the shafts are many miles in length. Each mine, as a rule, is served by only one main working shaft, through which all traffic and operations must be conducted.

DEAD TIME

"The working faces of the mines from which the ore is extracted are scattered through miles of underground works, and approximately two hours of each shift is required for men to proceed from the collar of the shaft to the working face, and return. The unproductive time, therefore, now equals approximately one-fourth of the working shift. If a six-hour shift were instituted, one third of the miner's time would be unproductive."

Englebright declared that all of the time now available on an eight-hour shift is required to drill a round of holes in preparation for a blast, and that the blast must be fired at the end of each shift in order to minimize ventilation difficulties. He also said that one of the major difficulties that would arise from the six-hour day would be congestion of traffic in the mine shafts.

GOLD MINING DIFFERENT

"Gold mines," he said, "are different from many of the coal mines and other types of underground develoments in that they only have one main shaft available for all underground operators. Men must be lowered and raised through the shaft supplies provided, and ore and waste removed. With the mills operating at capacity the shafts are crowded to the limit with the present eight-hour shift. Any attempt to increase the number of men underground, whether at a given time or in successive shifts, would lead to hopeless confusion. Power consumption would be substantially increased because of additional requirements of ventilation and hoisting.

WOULD CUT WAGES

"But, perhaps the most important item of the application of the six-hour day to gold mines would be the effect upon the wages of miners. At the present time the average wage for miners in California mines amounts to $4.06 per shift working about 28 shifts per month, or a wage of $113.68 per month. If the same hourly rate were applied to a six-hour shift and a five-day week, the average earnings of a miner would be $63 per month.

"This would not constitute a living wage for miners having families where the cost of living is substantially above the corresponding cost in other localities.

NARROW PROFIT MARGIN

"If any increases in wages were made to offset the loss thus sustained by miners, the cost of labor per ton of ore would be correspondingly increased. Careful estimates from the actual operators indicate that the proposed bill would increase the cost of production to the extent of $1.92 per ton. This is more than double the margin of profit available in any large mine now producing in California."
